Memorial Day events

Memorial Day will be celebrated on Monday, May 29. The following local events are planned to mark the holiday.

NEWRY

On Sunday, May 28, at noon, a ceremony will be held at the Newry Municipal Building. Newry Community Church Pastor Rodney Hanscom will offer the invocation and prayers.

Members of the Jackson-Silver American Legion Post in Locke Mills, the Mundt-Allen American Legion Post in Bethel, and the Veterans of Foreign Wars' Post in Bethel will form a color guard and firing squad to salute the war dead and veterans. Taps will be played and flowers placed on the town memorial.

Coffee and refreshments will be served in the Municipal Building prior to the event.

Events in the remaining local towns will all be held on Monday.

GREENWOOD

At 8:45 a.m. a parade will form at the Jackson-Silver Post on the Gore Road and will step off at 9 a.m.

The parade will feature Boy and Girl Scouts, the Mahoosuc Music Makers, the Bryant Pond Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War, Tri-Town Rescue, Legionnaires, fire trucks and more.

The parade will march to the Greenwood Memorial. State Rep. Norm Ferguson, Jr., will be guest speaker. Chaplain Rodney Hanscom will offer a prayer. The post Auxiliary will place flowers at the memorial and on the water. There will also be a firing squad salute to veterans.

The parade will then begin again and travel to Mt. Abram Cemetery. At the cemetery, Pastor Hanscom will offer a prayer, a veteran's grave will be decorated, taps played, and the Jackson Silver Post firing squad will salute war dead and veterans.

The parade will then disperse, and transportation will be provided back to the Legion Hall for refreshments. Any interested organization is invited to take part.

EAST BETHEL

At about 10:45 a.m. the Jackson Silver Post will hold a brief memorial ceremony at the East Bethel Cemetery.

BETHEL

A parade will assemble from 10:30-10:45 a.m. at the Civil War memorial on lower Main Street. It will begin at 11, marching up Main Street, circling the common, and stopping at the head of the common. Miss Poppy will be presented. Speakers will be Delma McMillin, Norman Clanton, and Richard Grover. There will be "Special Thoughts and Remembrances" by Jane Lowe and James Luty. A prayer will be offered by Legion Chaplain Sylvia Clanton. Music on the common will be supplied by the Mahoosuc Music Makers, under the direction of Jonathan Smith. Benediction will be said by the Rev. Brendon Bass.

WEST PARIS

At 10:45 a.m. a parade sponsored by the West Paris American Legion will assemble on Maple Street. It will step off at 11 a.m. and feature fire trucks, antique cars, the Oxford Hills High School marching band, Tri-Town Rescue, church groups, school children, scouts, the West Paris softball and baseball teams, and more.

The parade will travel down Main Street, pause to salute the large flag hung across the street and sing the National Anthem, and then travel to the bridge over the Little Androscoggin.

At the bridge, memorial wreaths will be thrown into the water to salute those who served and died at sea.

The parade will then turn and march to the West Paris Community Cemetery. There, the Rev. Lloyd Waterhouse will offer a prayer and give the Memorial Day address, followed by a musical selection by the OHHS band. A gun salute and taps will be sounded. Veterans' graves will be decorated by four Agnes Gray School students.

Marchers will then return to the West Paris Memorial Monument on Main Street. Members of the West Paris American Legion will decorate the memorial, under the direction of Kathy Newell.

After the parade, refreshments will be served at the West Paris Legion Hall to band members and young marchers.

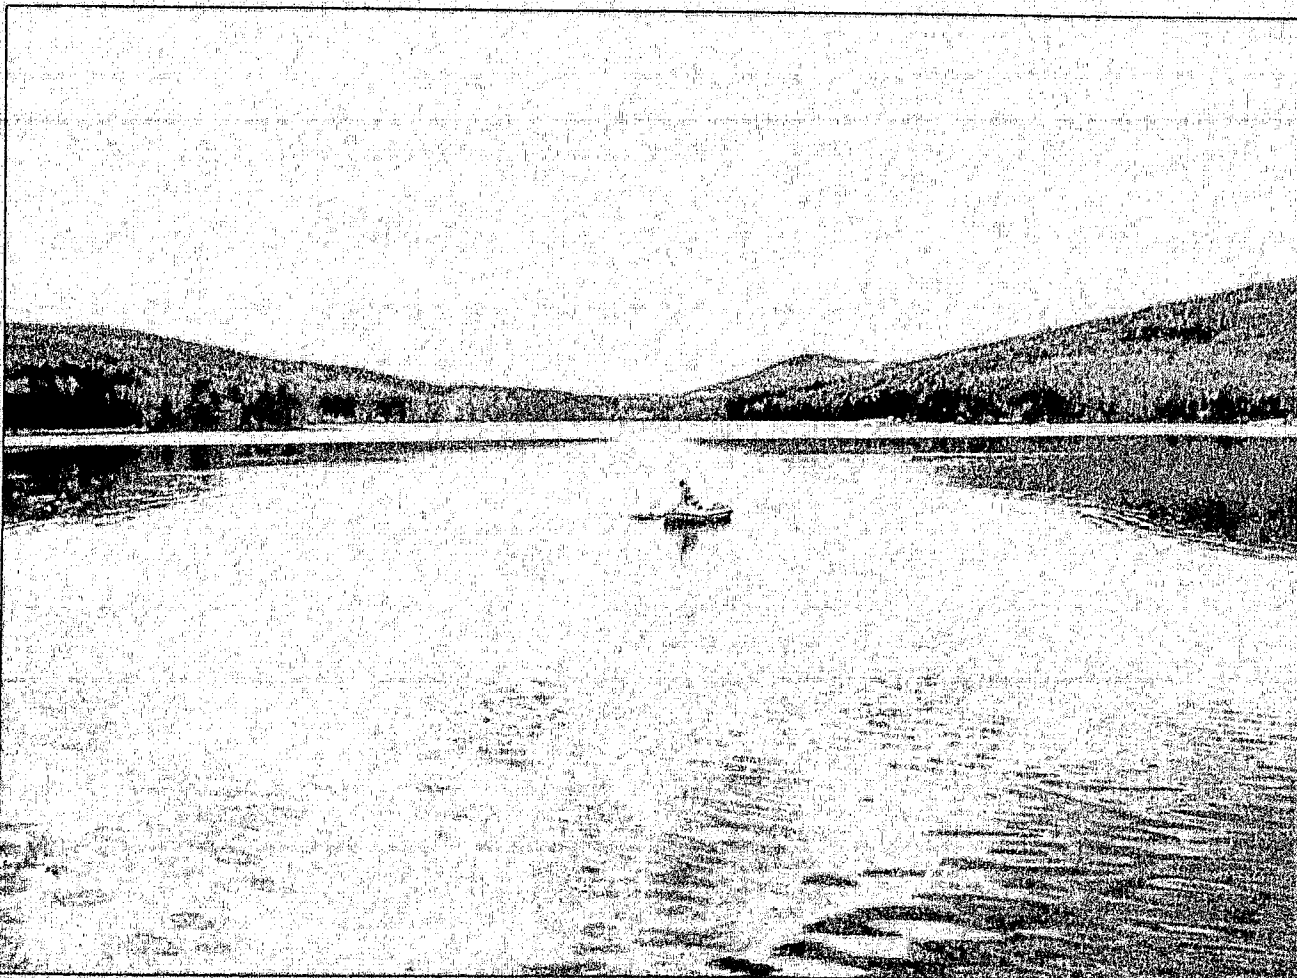

In case of rain, the entire event will be held at the Legion Hall.

WOODSTOCK

At 1 p.m. Nick Clements will speak at the monument. A parade led by the Jackson-Silver Post will then march to the cemetery. A firing squad will fire a salute. A wreath will be placed on the water, and a flag will be placed on a veteran's grave. The parade will then march back to the Grange Hall, where refreshments will be served by the Daughters of the American Revolution. Any organization interested in marching may call Earl Tyler at 824-3785 or Alice Hoyt at 665-2460.

ANDOVER

At 10 a.m. a memorial service will take place on the town common. Rev. Jane Rich will offer the invocation. There will be a flag-raising by Boy Scouts. Rev. Duane Waite will offer the benediction.

NORTH POND NEST RAISING—A few of their neighbors recently decided to lend a hand to a loon couple that had been trying to nest on a small patch of weeds along Route 26. The natural nest was vulnerable to flooding when water levels rose, and two of the past four years' eggs were apparently lost. This year volunteers from the Maine Conservation School built a floating nest next to the site, and after a bit of initial confusion the loons settled in. Here a volunteer attaches more anchor weight to help keep the nest stable.

Why the Bethel Station holdups? Answer depends on which side you ask

By MICHAEL DANIELS

As the Bethel Station Project falls farther and farther behind schedule, it is not only the developers who are losing money. The town is missing out on tax dollars for buildings that have not come onto the tax rolls, and now it appears that state and federal taxpayers may be asked to come up with the money to purchase land for the new parkway -- if the state agrees to take the land by eminent domain.

Part of the problem is due simply to the complexity of the project. The deals involved in Bethel Station are extremely intricate and interdependent, involving not only the developers and private landowners, but also the town, state and federal agencies, and a variety of funding sources and vested interests. "There are so many elements in the process," said Russell Spinney, MDOT deputy commissioner for transportation services. "Every day there is a new issue."

But complexity is only part of the problem -- money has also become a major stumbling block.

The developers claim progress is being held hostage by some of the landowners involved, who, according to the developers, have reneged on agreements and used a snail-scale change in the parkway layout -- a change required by the state -- to up the ante and "get another bite of the apple." "There's got to be some honesty or integrity -- which have been totally lacking in some of the people we have been dealing with," said Les Otten, one of the three general partners in the project.

The landowners don't see it that way. The developers, they argue, have made the process unnecessarily difficult by constantly changing plans and failing to follow through on commitments, including exercising options to purchase property. Frank Lowell of Western Maine Supply expressed their frustration: "We know what we have to do to live here -- why does it have to be this way?"

At this point both the developers and landowners do share one thing -- distrust of the other side. "Everyone involved feels they're getting screwed around," Lowell said.

Nonetheless, Otten and Bob and Frank Lowell have agreed to meet again to try to work things out. The meeting will include lawyers for both sides -- even though Otten lays much of the blame for the current stalemate at the feet of the lawyers. "If we could have done this without the lawyers," he said, "we could have been out of it a long time ago."

"This should have been a windfall to everybody concerned," he said. "But a situation between a couple of lawyers and a couple of greedy people is putting the entire project in jeopardy."

Page four of this week's Citizen provides a summary of where the major holdups currently appear to lie. This is not a total inventory of the problems faced by the developers -- there is also a $400,000 mortgage on the former L. E. Davis Lumber parcel, and the mortgage payments would have to be "accelerated" if the road is put through. And an additional parcel of less than 1 acre, on an 18.5-acre lot owned by James Murphy, would also have to be acquired for the parkway. An option the developers had on the entire Murphy property has lapsed.

DEP nixes Bethel shoreland variance

By MICHAEL DANIELS

The Maine Department of Environmental Protection has overruled a shoreland zoning variance granted earlier this month by the Bethel Board of Appeals.

The board, by a vote of 3 to 2, had approved a request from Curtis and Elizabeth Richmond that they be allowed to construct four residential units on a 7-acre piece of property bordered by Route 2 and the Sunday River.

There is a 250-foot Resource Protection zone along the river, but the Richmonds asked to be able to build to within 150 feet of the river's high water line.

In presenting the case for a variance, Tom Dubois of Main Land Development argued that the field where the Richmonds hoped to build was higher than the surrounding lands. "While portions of this property are classic floodplain area," Dubois argued, "this field is certainly not in this category."

He also argued that without the variance, the buildable area of the lot "is minimal at best."

Dubois also pointed to the nearby

ANDOVER'S SHIP NOT SINKING

To the Editor:

With all the hue and cry this past month, one would believe the town of Andover was sinking. Far from it. Although I have been labeled as intransigent, hard to get along with, and too quick to act for the town, I can only say that I accept these remarks as accolades if they mean that by acting with the staff we are able to push ahead for the dump reimbursement that is a year late, that I attack the financial mismanagement of the Fire Department, that I make sure no legal encumbrances unexpectedly hit the town, then I plead guilty. But these things will not stop; we must be aggressive.

People seem to be worried about running for the open selectperson position. They shouldn't be. The only hostile attitude I take is when something is aimed at the taxpayers of Andover. If the new selectperson puts the law and taxpayers first, there will be no problems here. If she or he puts in all the time needed to read the rules and regulations that come into the office, it will make the job easier. This is not a Tuesday night position. You have to come into the office and work at it. Already I have attended four different schools to aid in helping manage the town properly. The office staff, also elected officials, also go to school to keep their skills upgraded.

I love the intellectual in-fighting, the constant debate, and would hope more of the townspeople would come to the board meetings on Tuesday nights. Regardless, if you don't come, I will be there as your voice, at times loud, belligerent and as some critics think "hostile," but that's the nature of the game; and isn't that why you voted me in, to make sure I put you first, as taxpayers, and people with feelings. That's my rule of thumb.

DATIFICATION HAD LOTS OF HELP

To the Editor:

It was a pleasure to accept recognition from the Bethel Chamber of Commerce on behalf of the Bethel Data Corporation Saturday evening. Since this has been a community service project since its inception, it's important to publicly recognize and appreciate all of those who have worked on and supported this project in so many ways.

The members of the Bethel Datification Committee who spent many hours on this project over the past year included Nina Avergun-Reich, Dutch Dresser, Jonathan Goldberg, Peter Kuzyk, Scott Mills, David Murphy, Cathy Newell and Dick Penley. In April, most of the members of that committee chose to continue as Board members of the nonprofit Bethel Data Corporation with Nina Avergun-Reich, Dutch Dresser and Dan Reich serving as treasurer, president and secretary/clerk, respectively. The Adult Education staff at Telstar High School has contributed much time and energy to responding to public inquiry and doing group mailings. The computer services department of the University of Maine at Bangor has worked tirelessly on the technical side of our project.

A number of individuals and organizations have given generously to underwrite the significant capital expense involved in bringing this service to Bethel. These include The Bethel Citizen, Bethel Rotary Club, Bethel Savings Bank, The Bingham Betterment Fund, Gould Academy, The Merrill Co., The Otten Family Foundation, SAD44, and Sunday River Corp.

Since February, most Internet services have been available through BIC facilities. As of May 15, when e-mail facilities became easy to use, BIC services were completely operational. Those who may have interest in gaining access to those services can call the Adult Education office at 824-2787 for information. While the BIC can't take responsibility for providing home computers for connection, there are several good locations in town willing to set up machines for modest fees. These services are available on request from the Adult Education office.

HOLD THE LINE ON GUIDANCE

To the Editor:

The possible elimination of a guidance position in SAD44 is a tragic prospect. The SAD44 guidance staff have established an outstanding program over the past 10 years.

In addition to the "traditional" guidance functions, such as testing, scheduling, the PPT process, career counseling, college applications, maintenance of files on each student, graduation credit checks, grade reporting and follow-up, parent conferences, workshops for parents, students and teachers and mediation between teachers and students, this department has developed programs to help students deal with the more complex issues facing them today. Rod Abbott outlined these programs in his letter last week.

There are an ever increasing number of students with emotional and behavioral problems. There are very limited resources in our community to help these students and their families. The schools have become the main source of support and education. Early intervention is critical to success in school. A comprehensive guidance program (K-12) such as ours addresses these issues. Students who benefit from elementary guidance services can continue to be supported through middle and high school. Our commitment to these students should not waver.

Please call your board members to beseech them to maintain the present guidance staffing. I believe it is critical to the health of our children.

RESIDENTS SHOULD GET THE JOBS

To the Editor:

The town of Greenwood advertised for a part-time transfer station attendant. I received an interview with Greenwood and Woodstock selectmen. One other person was interviewed from Gilead. On Friday, I was informed that the other person was hired. It seems that if you live in Greenwood, don't try for a job in town. They hired a person from Rumford and now one from Gilead. Only out-of-towners are wanted.

Finally, a use for all that junk mail --and lots of other newly recyclable materials

By ALISON ALOISIO

Junk mail haters can now use the stuff to make money for their towns.

As of last week, area recycling centers are accepting windowed envelopes and all. They are also taking cereal, cracker, and other similar boxes (known as mixed paper).

Recycling guru Marie Bartlett of Greenwood is thrilled.

Paper makes up 75 to 80 percent of solid waste. This really closes the loop with the amount of products we consume," she said.

Bartlett said most of the Bethel area's recycled paper will go to the Bowater Paper Mill in Millbrook, N.C. The mill is now using the lower grade paper to make recycled paper.

Larger towns have just received new bins for the mixed paper. The junk mail may go into the magazine bin.

In smaller towns, such as Newry and Upton, the junk mail may go in with newspapers. The mixed paper should go into a separate bag or box before being placed in the sorting bin. Bartlett said signage will direct recyclers.

"The cereal boxes and so forth should be flattened, and any plastic inserts taken out," she said.

Detailed lists of allowable items are available at town offices.

Towns currently receive $90 a ton for the mixed paper, and $196 a ton for the combination of junk mail, magazines and newsprint.

The value of the mixed paper is rising rapidly. Bartlett said six months ago the going rate was $30 a ton.

What about people who use junk mail and cereal boxes to feed their woodstoves?

"Don't send all that money up in smoke. Recycle, so the money will come back to the town to defray the cost of solid waste," said Bartlett.

Grammy

School. She's been doing it since 1989.

The dedicated volunteer has a knack for helping kindergartners remember their letters.

Last Wednesday she played the alphabet version of the card game "Fish" with the pupils in Adrienne Gallant's class.

Asked at the end of the game why they liked working with Grammy Maggie, the children around the table said in unison, "Cause it's fun."

It's obviously fun for Maggie, too.

"I love kids. I've always worked with them -- my own, and at church (the Locke Mills Union Church). I started with a class of babies when I was 15. I'm a perpetual volunteer. I guess," she said.

The impatience of her own three-year-old granddaughter was responsible for the widespread use of the name "Grammy Maggie."

"We were at church with other children, and my granddaughter wanted my full attention. She kept repeating 'Grammy, Maggie, Grammy, Maggie' the whole time."

"The next week the rest of the kids thought it would be funny to call me 'Grammy Maggie.' I answered to it, and it stuck," she said.

Gallant appreciates her help.

"She comes up with cute stories to help the kids remember the letters," she said.

But Maggie's talents don't stop there. Consider how she took learning how to use a computer in stride.

"I asked her if she would work on the computer with the kids. I thought when she heard 'computer,' she'd want to walk out the door. But she learned how to use it, and comes right in now and uses it with confidence," said Gallant.

Grammy Maggie has a simple formula for her success with the kids, and for life in general.

"We should try to make fun out of what we have to do -- why not? And there's no retirement age to life. Just keep on living," she said.

DON'T LEAVE WOODSTOCK HUNG UP IN THE MIDDLE

To the Editor:

At the current time Woodstock is caught in the middle when it comes to long-distance phone service. People on either side of Woodstock can call their respective school districts and areas of employment. Residents of Locke Mills and Newry can call the Bethel area without a toll call. Residents of West Paris can arrange to have local calling to their school district in the Norway area. However, the residents of Woodstock in the 674- and 665- calling area are caught in the middle and cannot call the Bethel area without making a long distance call. This situation makes very little sense and needs to be rectified. Residents can get involved by signing a petition to the Public Utilities Commission to have this arrangement changed. The petition asks for the existing toll structure to be changed to allow residents of Woodstock to call Bethel as a local call. The petition is currently posted at the Village Store, Frozen Logger, Breaux's Too and the Trap Corner Store.

Woodstock and Bethel should be a local call for a number of good reasons. Recently the Oxford County Telephone Company acquired the Bethel phone system. For many years residents in the 674- calling area have been able to call all the towns in the Oxford Telephone Company as a local call, including Canton, Buckfield and Turner. Under the current arrangement I can still call Canton (13.5 miles away), Turner (17 miles away), and Buckfield (11 miles away) as a local call. However, I cannot make local calls to Locke Mills (7 miles away) and Bethel (11 miles away). For residents of Bryant Pond these mileage figures show an even larger difference. Buckfield, Turner, and Canton are rarely called, as I do very little business in these areas.

Bethel, on the other hand, is a much more logical choice for a local calling area. The students in this area attend school in Bethel after the fifth grade. In addition the Internet opportunities for the region are being opened up to residents of SAD44 through the service in the Bethel area. The toll charges to Bethel make this service unavailable to Woodstock residents. Many more people in our calling area are employed in the Bethel area than the Canton, Buckfield and Turner area. According to the Maine Department of Labor the Bryant Pond and Bethel areas are considered the same labor market.

The current system sets up artificial local calling boundaries that do not reflect current realities of community or economic factors. As a result the residents of the 665- and 674- calling areas in Woodstock have to pay an unfair share of toll calls, which further restricts their opportunity available through affordable phone service with a reasonable calling area. If you are a resident in the 674- or 665- calling area, register your support for changing the local calling area to include Bethel by signing our petition to the Public Utilities Commission.

LOCAL JEEPERS WILL MAKE FALL CALL

To the Editor:

Your article about the Jeep Jamboree was correct in mentioning that the national coordinating group, Jeep Jamboree USA is interested in holding another annual event in Bethel beginning in the fall of 1996. Mark Smith, who organizes these events all over the country has cited the record-breaking attendance this year and the fact that more than two dozen Jeepers had to be turned down for this past Jamboree as good reasons to expand the program during Bethel's slow season, following fall foliage.

Those of us in the business community welcome the idea but the real decision-makers will be the individuals and groups who do the hard work for the Jamboree, now in its seventh year in Bethel. The local organization, preparation of trails, provision of trail guides, and trail restoration takes a lot of time and energy by a lot of dedicated people. These folks and, more importantly, the generous and community-conscious land owners who provide the 45 miles of trails will ultimately decide the feasibility of an added annual event.

Meanwhile, congratulations to our local organizer Geoff Gaudreau and many thanks to all involved for the most successful Jamboree we have ever had in Bethel.

Red Top to close

BETHEL--The Red Top Diner, long a Bethel institution, will close its doors on July 15. Owner Esther Wilson said Tuesday her lease with building owner C.N. Brown Co. is up on June 4. "We'll serve breakfast on July 15, Mollycoddle Day, and then close," Wilson said. She said she does not know what C.N. Brown will do with the site.

Two hurt in Rt. 2 accident

BETHEL--Two elderly people (unidentified at press time) were injured Tuesday in an accident at the intersection of Cross St. and Route 2. Matthew Thurston, 19, of Bethel, turned left from the westbound lane across the path of a Ford Taurus sedan. The car struck the right front corner of Thurston's pickup truck. The car's occupants, a man and a woman, received arm and leg injuries, respectively, and were transported to Stephens Memorial Hospital in Norway. Thurston was not injured.

Selectmen plan election

ANDOVER--The two remaining selectmen plan to call an election for a third board member soon. Robert Greeke resigned recently, citing differences with selectman Joseph Madigan. Chairman Harold Frazier had talked about resigning as well. But last week he said, "We will have an election, but we have other things that we're worried about right now. Since Joe and I are not at loggerheads right now, we agree. If we can't agree, we'll fight it out among ourselves. We don't need any third person right now."

Another phony phone pitch

BETHEL--Residents were warned last week to be wary of phone callers purporting to be raising money for needy children. Deputy Tom Albrecht of the Oxford County Sheriff's Department said a local woman received a call from an unidentified person posing as a representative of the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce. The woman was asked to give her credit card number. Albrecht said the chamber is not doing any fund-raising in the area, and anyone else receiving such calls should contact the Sheriff's Department.

Newry plow truck sold

NEWRY--Selectmen Tuesday awarded the bid for the town's 1987 plow truck to D.A. Wilson. Wilson's bid of $16,550 won out over one from Ralph Harrington for $16,505. The town had voted at the annual Town Meeting to contract for plow services in the future. On May 31 at 10:30 a.m. Marie Bartlett will be at the Sunday River Fire Station to discuss additional items that may now be recycled, including junk mail and mixed paper. The public is invited to attend.

Low lake levels threaten recreation

EUSTIS--A lack of precipitation this spring has caused water levels in area lakes to drop as much as 10 feet below normal. That has western Maine's recreational community worried. According to meteorologist Tom Hawley, precipitation has been below normal since February. Upper Richardson Lake is down 4.4 feet, and Flagstaff 5.39. Flagstaff normally fills by June 1, but that isn't a realistic expectation this year, according to water monitor Wes Hollowell. CMP spokesman Mark Ishkanian said the company will make a major effort to fill Flagstaff. "We can get back to normal lake levels with normal precipitation through the summer if we release less water," he said.

No police in Errol

ERROL, N.H.--Police chief Paul Ingersoll and officer Roger Tremblay both resigned last week. Neither would comment on their reasons, except to say Tremblay resigned in support of Ingersoll. Selectmen said in a statement that Ingersoll did not resign voluntarily. They said he was given an alternative at the May 11 selectmen's meeting to either resign or be terminated. He immediately signed a prepared resignation letter. The statement also said, "The complaints that the selectmen have received in the past year were not against the Police Department, but against an individual in the department, for numerous harassments and an aggressive attitude." The town is currently depending on assistance from the State Police.

Sugarbush purchase completed

WARREN, Vt.--Leslie Otten completed his purchase of Sugarbush Resort last week, promising the change in ownership would help move Vermont back into prominence in skiing. Though western ski areas have supplanted New England's leadership, Otten said with the new technology, Vermont could once again become competitive. Guaranteeing snow conditions has been the key stumbling block at Sugarbush, and has contributed to its loss of market share in the past decade or so. It also helped delay Otten's final purchase of the resort from Claneil Enterprises of suburban Philadelphia. Details of the deal were not disclosed.

Holiday weekend gas prices up

PORTLAND--Motorists preparing for Memorial Day weekend will find that gasoline prices took their biggest monthly jump since Iraq invaded Kuwait in August 1990, according to AAA Maine. Last year the prices for self-serve gasoline was $1.08 for regular, $1.17 for plus, and 1.26 for premium. This year's prices for self-serve regular are $1.18, up 10.7 cents from a year ago. Unleaded plus is at 1.27, up 10.6 cents, and premium is at $1.38, up 12 cents.

Tax breaks for wetland restoration

AUGUSTA--The Wetlands Reserve Program (WRP) will be accepting applications from May 30 to June 30. The voluntary program offers landowners a chance to receive payment and possible tax breaks for restoring and protecting wetlands on their property. WRP obtains conservation easements from participating landowners and provides cost-share payments for wetlands restoration. The U.S. Dept. of Agriculture is also buying some permanent easements at local land values and paying 75 percent of the cost of restoring hydrology and habitat. Landowners may also qualify to have the other 25 percent paid by an interested conservation group. Interested landowners may contact the county office of the Natural Resources Conservation Service (formerly the Soil Conservation Service), or the USDA.

Dog dies of rabies

FREEMPORT--A four-year-old springer spaniel who died from rabies was the first confirmed death of a dog from the disease in Maine in 17 years. It was not clear how the dog contracted the disease, said Dr. Philip Haines of the state Health Environmental Testing Laboratory. The dog's owner said the dog had been vaccinated last August. Haines confirmed the vaccination, but said that while the shots provide the best protection, they are not foolproof. The owner said he was unaware of contacts with wild animals, other than treeing a porcupine last fall. Nine people had contact with the dog and had to receive the $1,500 per person series of rabies shots.

Recycle those apple bins and sawmills

WALLULA, Wash.--Look closely at the next cardboard shipping crate you see. You might find a tiny piece of a Pendleton, Ore., sawmill, a Toucet grain elevator, or old apple bins from orchards near Yakima. Boise Cascade's corrugated cardboard plant is grinding up all of them and using them to make boxes. Boise calls the scrap material "urban wood." Because the recycled wood can be dirty and vary in shape, size, and composition, the company can't use it to make top-grade office paper. So it uses it to make the wavy layer sandwiched between the outer sheets of the cardboard. The waste wood now accounts for about 3 percent of the fiber used to make boxes, and Boise is trying to increase that.

PIZZA POWER--Michael Fleet of Hanover takes a break from fun and games at the Crescent Park School May Fair to try the homemade pizza. The fair helps raise money for CPS/PTA-sponsored activities at the school. Power pitching, a petting zoo, games, music, and a family auction were just a few of the day's events.

Variance

egg farm and tanning salon as evidence that the area is already developed and could be considered as a limited commercial or general development district.

The Richmonds have owned the parcel since January of 1994. It has been in resource protection since 1992, when Bethel voters adopted the shoreline zoning ordinance.

Curtis Richmond told the appeals board that "Our understanding at the time of the purchase was that there was a 100-foot setback from the water."

"We did what we considered everything that was right and we searched it to make sure it was a buildable lot before we passed papers ... but here we are," he said.

Appeals Board members Harry Faulkner, Wende Gray and Leland Brown voted for the variance; Jeri Greenwell and Dexter Stowell voted against it.

Prior to voting, board members acknowledged the likelihood that the DEP would not go along with the decision.

"We could take a chance, if the board was so inclined, to pass on this variance, because I walked the lot and I see no problem with it," said Faulkner, who chaired the meeting.

"We have to send it to the state and the state will send it back, which means the next step is probably court."

Faulkner noted, however, that the ordinance could be amended by Town Meeting.

The DEP has the final say in such matters, and Richard Baker, DEP shoreland zoning coordinator, wrote last week that the variance was in violation of the Bethel shoreland zoning ordinance "and must be considered."

Residential uses are not allowed in a Resource Protection District, Baker wrote, and if a variance were granted on the basis of hardship, or under a Special Exception permit, it could be for one such unit only -- not the four planned by the Richmonds.

The Board of Appeals is scheduled to meet again on May 30, at which time the members are expected to overturn their approval of the variance, according to town planning assistant Nancy Schlieper.

The next step for the Richmonds is likely to be to petition to have the town re-zone the area, she said.

From the Bethel Police log:

95-mph biker caught

On May 19 at 5:30 p.m. Bethel police were asked to assist the Shelburne, N.H., police department on a high-speed chase. A motorcycle was coming from Shelburne at a speed of 95 mph or better. A roadblock was set up in West Bethel in front of the Pleasant River Motel. A passerby stopped and told police the motorcycle had turned onto the Bog Road. Police went to the Bog Road, saw skid marks, and started to walk up a dirt road. A subject jumped from behind a downed tree. He was handcuffed and transported by the Oxford County Sheriff's Department.

Thursday, May 18

At 8 a.m. the SAD44 bus garage reported a male subject in a gray Chevrolet truck had passed a bus at Telstar while the lights were still flashing. The truck had been stopped behind the bus. After students had exited the bus, he passed it. The bus garage supervisor said a warning would be sufficient, as the subject did wait until the students were off the bus. Attempts were to be made to locate the vehicle to speak with the operator, because the registration given did not match the description.

At 11:14 a.m. a Bethel resident reported a stray cat hanging around her residence, causing problems with her cat and howling all night. Police attempted to explain there was nothing in the town ordinance regulating cats, but the resident did not want to hear it. She finally said she wanted something done immediately about the cat. Police said her concerns would be passed on to the police chief and animal control officer.

At 4:35 p.m. a report was received that someone had tried to pick locks on the entrance door at a Main Street restaurant. The owner requested that police keep an eye on the restaurant.

Friday, May 19

At 11:50 a.m. a Gilead resident called to report that while riding west on Route 2, he was nearly run into by a vehicle traveling east. He said it was a red Blazer or Bronco, possibly with New Hampshire license plates, with two bikes on the back. No contact was made.

Saturday, May 20

At 7:15 a.m. a Mechanic Street resident reported a vehicle had been stolen from his residence. He said he had last seen it in his driveway at 10 p.m. on May 19. At 1 a.m. on the 20th, he heard a disturbance, but assumed it was bar traffic leaving the area. The keys were in the vehicle, and it was unlocked.

At 1:06 a.m. the police chief was involved in a chase with the same vehicle. He observed the vehicle, with no lights on, traveling on Railroad Street in front of the Big Apple. He went to stop the vehicle, and as he got close it turned into Dooen Trailer Park on Route 2. The operator pulled to the left as if to stop. Police stopped, and the operator then drove off, going to the end of the road and onto the grass. The operator jumped out of the vehicle and ran toward Route 2, headed west. He had black hair, and was wearing a black T-shirt and blue jeans. Police yelled for him to stop, but he continued to run toward Route 2. Police contacted dispatch and advised the vehicle had been stopped, and requested a K-9 unit. He was advised the unit could not be contacted. The vehicle operator was not located, and the vehicle was towed.

This report highlights points of interest from the Bethel Police Department log, but does not include all reports of police activity.

Station deals still stalled

Oxford West parcel

The Bethel Station Parkway is slated to run directly across a .62-acre parcel of land currently owned by Oxford West Telephone Company.

Oxford West general manager Bob Jamison has said his company doesn't want to hold up the project, but Otten describes the telephone company's demands as "the clearest attempt at profiteering by anyone involved in the deal."

The town's tax valuation on the parcel is $16,800, but Jamison has demanded the developers exchange it for a $34,500 parcel at the Airport Industrial Park, plus an anticipated $3,000 in legal fees.

An appraisal of the telephone company's lot by Paris Appraisal Services sets its value four times higher than the town's figure -- at $61,000 to $82,000. Calls to the appraisal service to learn how those figures were reached were not returned.

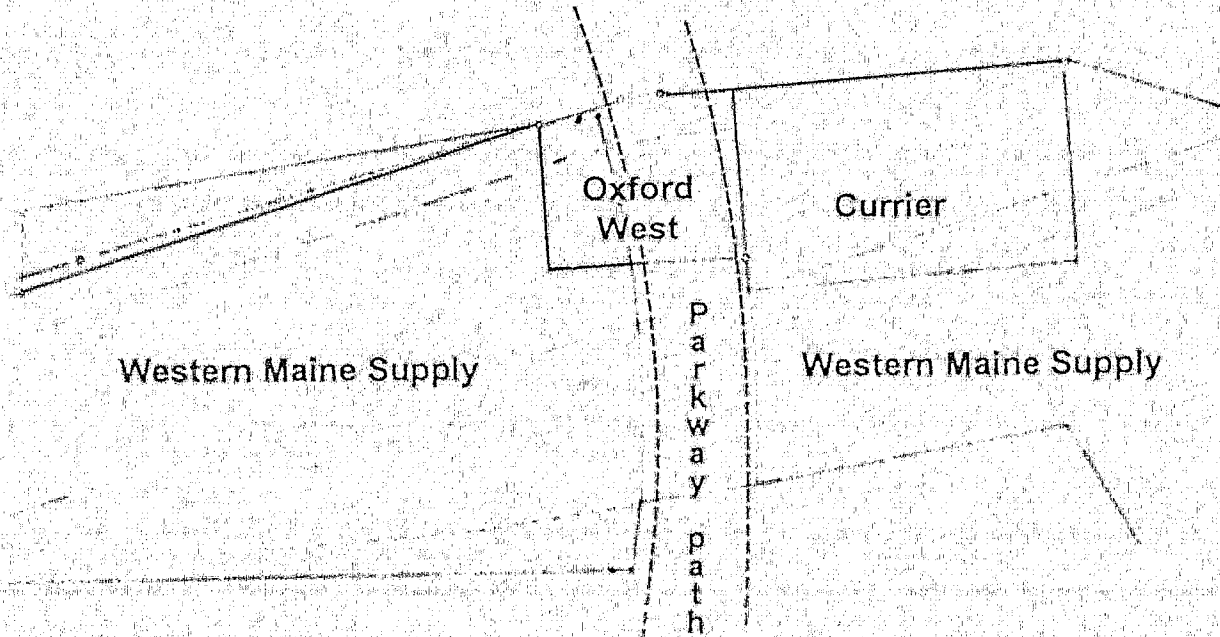

Currier parcel

For the developers, the most expensive of the three problem parcels is one the parkway will not even cross. Priscilla Currier owns and lives on a .64-acre lot located just to the east of the parkway right of way, but her lot is accessed (from Cross Street) by an easement across the Western Maine Supply Company land -- and across the proposed parkway. That easement must be cleared before the state will build the parkway over the land.

The Currier lot is assessed by the town at $14,100 and the mobile home on it at $10,100. Negotiations for the parcel have been handled by Ivory Currier Jr., Mrs. Currier's son. According to Otten, the son has made verbal commitments to sell the land for first $45,000, then $65,000, and most recently $90,000.

But after agreeing to the $90,000 figure, Otten said, Currier then told them he had a higher offer and his lawyer took over the negotiations. Otten said the $90,000 offer had been made only after Currier assured him that his (Currier's) other family members agreed to the figure. "There's absolutely no doubt in my mind that he totally agreed," Otten said. "But after we gave him the paperwork, we got paperwork back from his lawyer saying not to talk to him."

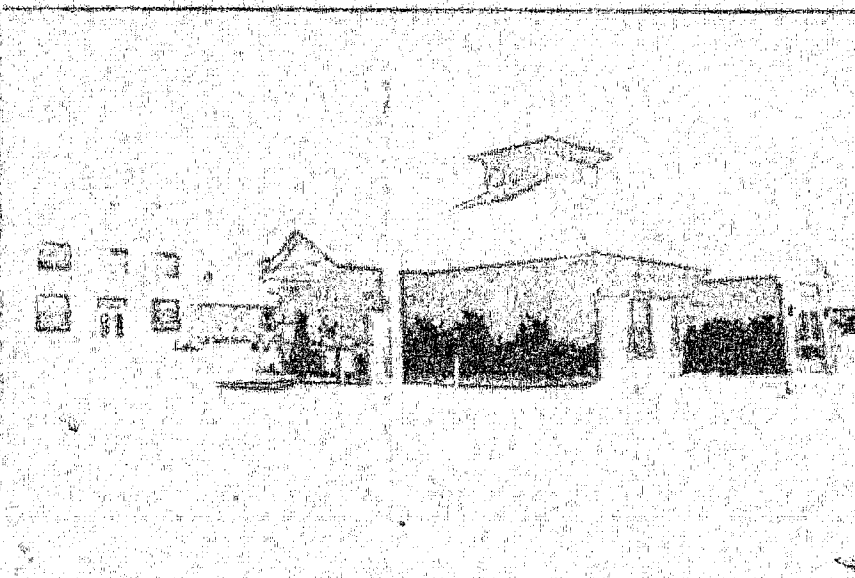

According to Otten, the developers contacted the lawyer, C. Martin Berman of Berman and Simmons in Lewiston, and they were told that unless they agreed to pay $100,000, the price would go even higher. "At that point we said 'this is just crazy. There's no reason to think even if we agreed to $100,000 that would be the end of it,'" Otten said. (Ivory Currier has been out of town and did not respond to messages asking for his view of the matter. His lawyer, contacted Tuesday, said he would discuss the issue only if he received permission from Currier. As of press time, attorney Berman had not called back. The Citizen will hold space in next week's edition for any response.)

THREE PROPERTIES--lie at the heart of the Bethel Station project, and at the heart of its parkway problems. The solid lines above indicate current property lines, the dotted lines show the proposed parkway right of way. The darker shaded areas show parcels the developers have agreed to purchase and swap to Western Maine Supply Company, the more lightly shaded areas are current easements for access and water lines.

Western Maine Supply parcel

The proposed parkway cuts perpendicularly across an elongated 6.6-acre lot owned by Western Maine Supply Company. The lot, which runs from Cross Street to the Androscoggin River, is the site of the company's building supplies store and storage space. In May of 1994, the developers signed an option to purchase the rear half of the lot for $50,000, plus three small parcels of land (shaded areas in graphic) that would serve to square off the remaining WMS parcel. The small parcels were to have been deeded over from the developers after being purchased from their original owners. However, late in 1994, the state expanded the right of way needed for the parkway, from 70 feet to 100 feet, meaning that the original option would have to be redrawn. WMS owners Bob and Frank Lowell agreed to the revisions, but added an 11 page amendment that called for the developers to fill one corner of the WMS lot in order to bring it up to level with the remainder of the lot, and to pay any legal costs WMS incurred as a result of the changes. "We estimated the amendment would cost them $10,000 to $12,000," said Bob Lowell, but Heinie Merrill said the legal fees are open ended and could add as much as $25,000 to the developers' costs. Relations between the two camps then deteriorated to the point where the Lowells' lawyer demanded that Merrill not communicate with them directly. Otten places much of the blame for the current impasse on the lawyer, K. Alexander Visparas of Issacson and Raymond in Lewiston. Noting that Visparas also represents Dan Davis, Otten claimed Visparas has "an agenda we don't understand" and that the parties were "being whip-sawed back and forth." Visparas denied there was any conflict of interest or hidden agenda. He said he has been representing the two clients for almost two years -- without any earlier complaints from the developers. Otten also claimed Visparas was using as an obstruction the small parcel of Davis land that was to be swapped to WMS, but Visparas said Tuesday his clients had already made an offer to go ahead with the deal without the parcel. Both sides are expected to meet again soon, and Otten has been at pains to separate the Lowells from his broader charges about the landowners involved with the development. "I have a great deal of respect for Bob and Frank Lowell," Otten said, "but I have only disdain for the lawyers."

THE RAILROAD STATION at Bethel Station is completed, but unoccupied and waterless -- due largely to questions about the suitability of the uses the developers have proposed for it, and to ongoing disagreements with the Bethel Water District.

Bethel Station (the railroad-station building, that is) is complete, but empty. The Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce hoped to move in by mid-March, but two problems stand in the way -- there is no water service to the building (for the adjacent Casablanca Building), and the Federal Transportation Authority has not yet agreed that housing a chamber of commerce is an appropriate use for a building constructed with $600,000 of federal funds.

Russell Spinney of the Maine Department of Transportation said he hopes the latter problem will soon be resolved. "We believe it is a perfectly acceptable use and enhances public use of the facility," he said. The final draft of a lease between MDOT and Bethel Station Limited Partnership is now being checked by the lawyers, he said. "It's got to be put into proper legalese," he said. "The lawyers are faxing information back and forth every minute -- or it seems like that."

Spinney expressed confidence that the FTA would sign off on the lease and the sub-lease for the chamber -- but the water problem may be harder to resolve.

The Bethel Water District and the developers have been at loggerheads almost since the project was first announced. The developers complain of arbitrary and capricious demands from Water District officials. "We agree to something on Tuesday, and by Friday it's changed," Otten said. But Water District Superintendent Bob Saunders said the bottom line is protecting district customers from unexpected costs. "The requirements for providing water service are set by the PUC," Saunders said. The problems came to a head earlier this year, when the developers installed a service line of plastic rather than copper pipe. The Water District demanded copper pipe be used, as was called for in the specs, but the developers objected and took their case to the Maine Public Utilities Commission -- which backed the local utility. The plastic pipe was replaced, and developer Heinie Merrill termed the episode "an honest mistake," but he acknowledged it further soured relations with the BWD.

The station and Casablanca Building are hooked up to an existing water line and could be turned on almost immediately, but, according to Saunders, the PUC requires that the new buildings be treated not as stand-alones, but as part of the overall project -- which means the developers must first escrow the money to finance water-main work in that section of the development.

The developers and town officials had hoped that the $400,000 CBDO grant would cover that necessity, but that plan hit a snag when the town learned the grant language includes a requirement that the town show nearly 300 permanent jobs will have been created by the money.

The selectmen balked at signing off on such language -- and possibly opening the town to a $400,000 liability if the jobs don't add up.

Town Manager Madeleine Henley said she has been assured by state development officials that the jobs requirement is a formality and could be waived or rewritten if necessary. But the selectmen want more assurance than that, and the matter is now in the hands of the lawyers.

Saunders and Merrill are also at odds over the language in a renegotiated contract between the water district and the developers. Saunders claims Merrill has been sitting on a new PUC-approved contract, while Merrill counters that Saunders added new requirements to the contract after the PUC approval.

Birthday wishes are extended to Kelly Hart of Woodstock for her 37th birthday on Thursday, the 25th. Rumor has it that Paula Smith of North Andover will gain another year on the 27th of May. The birthday girls enjoyed a shopping spree in Portland on Saturday to celebrate both occasions.

North Newry

by Gil Seeley

Services at the Newry Community Church were conducted by Pastor Rodney Hanscom on Sunday, May 14, and Nancy Anderson played the organ. The Message of the Day was: "At Wit's End" from Scriptures Genesis 21:9-21, Exodus 2:1-10 and St. John 18:25-27.

The Newry Community Church annual business meeting was Monday night, May 15, with Moderator Owen Wight at the chair. The meeting was opened with a prayer by Pastor Rodney Hanscom, followed by Secretary Freda Robertson's report. Sylvia Wight brought the finances up to date. Louise Tetley was voted in as auditor again, and the trustees are Owen Wight, Sylvia Wight and Beverly Hinkley. Other business was discussed and the meeting adjourned with a closing prayer by the Pastor. The annual Church picnic date is Aug. 10. Everyone is welcome.

Karlene Bachelder, Betsy Clark, Gil Seeley, Louise Tetley, Doris Parent, Bea Lowell, Olive Anderson, and Theresa Toffi from Rhode Island of the "Newry Bowling Gang" were at the Oxford Lanes, Rumford, one day last week. Rena Powers and Jim Anderson were guests. On the overall scores, Betsy was high on the triples beating Karlene by only two pins. She also was high on the singles with one string of 99. Of the "Righties," Doris was high on the triples and singles. Karlene and Betsy had three spares each, Gil had two spares, and Doris, Louise and Olive had one spare each.

Theresa Toffi, my niece and God child of Rhode Island, spent a few days with me here in North Newry. We made the rounds of good places to eat and enjoyed it very much, even if it was raining most of the time. See you soon!

A cookout was held at the home of John and Nancy Wight on Mother's Day.

Jason and Mandy Berry took their mother to the races at Oxford Plains for Mother's Day.

Bill and Sylvia Wight enjoyed a two weeks trip by bus and train through France and Germany recently. This trip was organized for Veterans and Families who served in the 70th Infantry Division. A dedication and unveiling of a Monument at Spichenen Heights near Forbach, France was held on V.E. Day. The group attended other celebrations throughout the day. Four days were spent in the Black Forest in Germany. Bill and Sylvia are now back home resting after their busy schedule. But they said it was wonderful and worth it.

Joyce Lamb attended the Northeast District Meeting in Bangor last Saturday. She also visited with Ann and Ed Lamb.

On Mother's Day she enjoyed having dinner prepared by her daughters, Jude E. Lamb of Bethel, Peggy Lamb from Palermo and Wendy Sue Lamb of Windham.

Also present were Ken, Paula, Kenny, Caleb and Kyle Lamb from Auburn and Kyra McLaughlin and friend Gene Flaherty.

James and Jean Young spent part of the past weekend at their camp on Moosehead Lake.

Louvie Coffin spent the Mother's Day weekend with her daughter, Eleanor Hutchinson and family in Appleton.

Joe and Peg Perham were entertained for Mother's Day dinner at T.J.'s in Auburn by the Gizinski grandchildren.

Alta Waterhouse enjoyed a cookout on Sunday at the home of her son and wife, Alan and Pam Waterhouse in Norway. Walter and Kim Inman, Vernie and Waltie were there also.

Vernon and I had dinner with daughter Vicky Sanborn, her husband Sandy and Brant and Caroline in North Conway, NH.

At the May meeting of the Woodstock Historical Society, Blaine Mills presented a program on some Greenwood history. The Daughters of Union Veterans gave a flag to the society; other donations came from Russell Yates, Olive Risko, and Irving Tuttle. Plans were made for various events the society will sponsor this summer and members signed up to watch the museum. President Evelyn Bean agreed to plan another History Day in August. Curator Larry Billings told about exhibits he had set up. He has established a special Curator's Corner upstairs in the museum with styles of furniture, including Chippendale, Queen Anne, Sheraton and Victorian. There are also reproductions of paintings by Michelangelo, Leonardo de Vinci, Rubens, Constable, and Turner. These exhibits will expand the cultural offerings of the museum. The June program will be a film called "Reminiscence Hitch," a story about Belgian horses going across America.

The following came from Steve Seames. In the "All the Arts that Please," at the Maine History Gallery in Portland, is included an exhibit (human hair) of a memorial something like a cross stitch type family record using hair of each person listed on the chart. It was made by Diantha Cole Edwards, who was the daughter of Captain Jonathon and Abigail Whitman Cole. She was born in Woodstock in 1837. She was a seamstress and Post Mistress at North Woodstock for many years. She died around 1910. It is a beautiful work of art, and if anyone is in Portland, it is worth the time to go see it.

There will be a Baccalaureate Service at the Bryant Pond Baptist Church on Sunday, June 4, 10:30 a.m. All Telstar graduates are invited.

Franklin Grange met on Monday, May 15, for Children's Night with Woodstock Elementary School. It was an open meeting, so the Bible was opened, the flag presented and prayer offered. Master Richard Felt welcomed everyone. The program was as follows: Bertha Benoit had opening thought, "Thank God for our Children. May we always cherish them," song by all; Bertha introduced two teachers, Paula Smith and Pat Whitman, who had been working with the fifth grade who put on an excellent play entitled, "Fit for a King"; the children were then entertained with old-time music; sixteen children participated in a game of musical chairs; Dot Canwell whistled "Grampa"; she then did "Sound of Music" and the boys and girls whistled with her; DARE brochures were given to all who wanted them, and Bertha spoke briefly on the dangers of substance abuse; everyone sang several songs together; the two teachers and the youth director, Lucy Ridley, were escorted to the altar and presented a vase of flowers each for their work; the teachers thanked everyone for attending and invited the children to join the Junior Grange, which is now in the planning stages, also the parents to join the Grange; closing song "God Bless America." Fifty-eight were present, including 20 young people. It was a real enthusiastic group and a good time was had by all. Refreshments were served. The next meeting will be June 5 for inspection and Memorial Day with Chaplain and election of officers.

The Woodstock-Greenwood Senior Citizens' meeting will be held on June 1 at the Frozen Logger at 11:30 with dinner at noon.

The Memorial Day program, put on by the Daughters of Union Veterans, will be held on Monday, May 29, at the Honor Roll at 1 p.m., followed by the parade. Nick Clements will be the speaker. All are invited to attend. Anyone who wishes may march.

The Woodstock High School Alumni Banquet will be held on June 3 at the American Legion Hall in Locke Mills. Special guests are Woodstock and Greenwood Telstar seniors and 70-, 60-, and 50-year alumni.

It was a beautiful day Sunday for Mothers' Day. We had our first cookout at our daughter's, Mr. and Mrs. David Crockett. Others present were: Ray and Shawn, Beatrice Farnum, Jim Hoyt, Joseph and Maggie, Robert and Gwenn Hoyt, Clayton Crockett and Alice and Ken Hoyt. For our meal that evening, we had a potluck supper at Mr. and Mrs. John Chase's with Alliea and Robert Stevens, Keith, Jenny and Danny, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Chase and Liza, Crystal Chase, Aric Beane, Helen Chase, Beatrice Farnum and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hoyt.

Joe Pete, Laurene and Danielle Appleby stopped by for a visit one night this week.

Laurene had been to a doctor in Lewiston that day. Hope this new doctor helps.

Doris Lawrence fell and broke her leg one day recently. I haven't heard how she is, but will try to find out before next week news. Barbara Cash who just had an operation is now home and is staying with her daughter, Alicia while she's recuperating.

Claribel Poland called and said she received calls from Florida and received bouquets of flowers and other gifts for Mother's Day. She said she was well remembered.

We are saddened by the death of John Pietila. He had been sick for quite awhile. My condolences go out to his family and friends.

I guess Spring is finally here. I saw my first hummingbird on Mother's Day. I put out the feeders a little early but always feel Spring is here when I see my first bird. They're fun to watch.

Sarah Hart is working at Goldstreet Restaurant as a waitress. She said she really likes it.

My children, Rick Wing and grandson, Doug, and Kellie Hart, and granddaughters, Sarah and Jessie and Jenny, Lindsey and Brad Record came to bring presents and visit on Mother's Day. Don't get to see them as much as I'd like as they're busy with other things. Kellie brought a delicious strawberry pie that got eaten right away.

Jeff Littlehale celebrated his 40th birthday this month. Other birthdays are Gina Poland, Stacy Mason, Pam Mason, Gloria Fleming, Jason Canuli, and Betty Estabrook. Happy Birthday to you all, especially Jeff Littlehale on the Big 40.

Esther Davis has been out walking some this week, whenever it doesn't rain.

Larry Billings, Curator, Woodstock Historical Society reports that the June meeting will be a film about Belgian Horses going across America. He also reports that at the May meeting of the Society plans were made for the summer. Annella Burnham said she would order more items to sell in the museum. Kathleen McAllister presented a flag to the Society from the Daughters of Union Veterans. President Evelyn Bean agreed to plan another History Day. Blaine Mills presented the program. A number of new exhibits were added. Mr. Billings has given the Society some exhibits and books he hopes people will enjoy on Saturdays this summer at the museum.

Quote of the Week: "I've learned that we all have a choice—trying times can make us bitter or better."

I have just noticed the shad-bush in full bloom. It was an attractive sight nestled among the green canopy. This time of year everything seems to happen at once. Only yesterday it was April and tomorrow it will be summer. Today, flowers are pastel that yesterday were bright brush strokes in the sun.

I walked a little while to take a closer view of things. I took a breath of joy, like a child who bends to pick a buttercup from the fields of May. Then why did I shiver, and see snow in those falling blossoms, even though the day was bright and warm?

This bush has several names: Juneberry, because of the shrub's crimson fruit at the very beginning

COCKATEILS IN TWOS AND THREES—Can be seen at the Bethel Pet Shop, along with other creatures feathered, finned and furred, as well as plenty of their foods, toys and accessories. Joy and Ozzié Hart recently opened the new pet store, located beside the Unicorn Flower Shop, across from Telstar High School. Hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Saturday. (Photo by Michael Daniels) of summer, Serviceberry because of the use made by the Indians, of its fruit, which they gathered in great quantities, and after much crushing and pounding made into a short of cake. Shadblow the bush readily explains.

Next, I discovered beneath the feathery foliage, the tremulous beauty of the slender-stemmed anemones. Whittier describes them thus -- "Wind-flowers sway/Against the throbbing heart of May." There, too, was another delicate flower of May, the star flower.

"Down in a green and shady bed/A modest violet grew./And yet it was a lovely flower/Its color bright and fair; It might have graced a rosy bower./Instead of hiding there," (Jane Taylor)

The hilltop trees that stood like sharp etchings against the sky have taken on their summer raiment. The walls have become half-camouflaged and so wild folk use them for a sanctuary.

Near a large boulder I stopped to look at the cloud formation. I saw them puffy and shaped like maps and woolly forms of sheep. Then they melted away into just cotton.

After a few more wanderings, I came back to look at my Rhodora and to recall Emerson's "In May, when sea-winds pierce our solitudes,/I found the fresh Rhodora in the woods—" Life in May has uncurled again and ventures into full and fragrant blossom. The world has come fully awake. The piercing blue skies signal the long summer days ahead.

Rena Curtis' family came on Mother's Day to spend the day with her.

At the farm all the family was home on Sunday, and the Sunday of the 7th we all went out for dinner to celebrate Pay's birthday.

The family of Milton and Eleanor Inman visited and celebrated Mother's Day with her.

I received a surprise on Sunday, for when I came home from the farm, I found a lovely May basket on the knob of my door. My neighbors, the Inmans, remembered me. I felt young again but found no one to chase. That was the custom and the fun when I was young. That fun has long gone today.

I had several cards and gifts on Mother's Day.

John, Lee and Mark Hindman were in Virginia last week to attend funeral services for their father, William Hindman. Mrs. Kassie Gatchell and Kaiti were overnight visitors here Saturday. On Sunday they joined Bernice at his folks in Bryant Pond.

Sunday visitors here were Mrs. Dottie Adams of Hanover, Mr. and Mrs. Craig Turner and Amber Bean of Ousfield, Mrs. Sylvia Swan, Sherr, Tami and Christopher from Auburn, and hostess Norma Salway. I went home with Dottie to spend the night. Herbie drove me to Rumford Monday for my blood test and brought me home later.

East Stoneham

by Eleanor Nelson

Dick and Marilyn Jones and Wanda Ryerson of Norway were in town on Sunday, and the ladies put a fresh coat of paint on the signpost on the East Stoneham Church lawn. It looks nice, Marilyn.

On May 10, Walter and Carolyn Heino and Helen Havista and Eleanor Nelson went to Brunswick to the Atrium Inn and Convention Center, which is where the D.U.V. will be meeting on June 15 and 16, with the Maine Department "Tents."

The Stoneham Planning Board met at the Town Office on May 10 to discuss and approve several applications.

On May 12, Gladys Kilgore went to Fryeburg to her foot specialist, Dr. Goldenhar, who does a great job when needed.

On Saturday, May 13, Albert Nelson Jr. took his mother to their camp at Wilsons Mills. Albert Sr. and dog "Asta" went also. This was a good treat, as we hadn't been up for all winter. We saw seven moose over the weekend. One was a little one separated from his mother (I think she was across the road) and some were medium size and on Sunday one was humongous! Is there such a word? He was awful big, anyway.

There will be Thrift Shop sales and Bake Sales at the East Stoneham Church on Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. from now on. Come on in and see what we have. If there is any change, I will surely let you know.

The Daughter's Memorial meeting is at the K. of P. Hall on May 24. Please, all members try and be there. There is a lot to discuss and matters to be taken care of.

The Women's Booster Supper is Saturday, May 27, at the Fire Station with happy hour at 5:30 and supper at 6 p.m.

On May 17 Saturday, there was a final supper at the Fire Station honoring Michelle Ward of Waterville, who is to be married to Edward Miller Jr. on June 24, Saturday, at the North Waterville Church.

Area Public Church Suppers: East Stoneham: Thursdays, June 22, July 6, July 20, Aug. 3, Aug. 17, Aug. 31, Sept. 14, Sept. 28.

North Waterville: Tuesdays, June 27, July 11, July 25, Aug. 8, Aug. 22.

Hunt, Oran (Albany): Thursdays, July 13, July 27, Aug. 10, Aug. 24, Sept. 9.

These are all baked bean and casseroles, salads, pies, beverages, brown bread, and much more. The Aug. 17th is a turkey supper and the Sept. 9th date is on a Saturday. Please take note, tack these dates up on your wall and attend one or all. I'm sure you will enjoy it.

Faith Barker attended the 1995 Maine All-State Music Festival at the University of Southern Maine on the Gorham campus, on May 18-20. This is a yearly festival featuring the best of Maine's high school musicians and is hosted by the Department of Music. The festival is organized by the Maine Music Educators' Association, a state affiliate of the nationwide Music Educators' National Conference. The students rehearse with nationally known conductors, and the festival concludes on May 20 with a public concert at 2:30 p.m. Faith plays the clarinet and is the daughter of Dan and Geneva Barker.

And now I have the rest of 20 pounds of fiddleheads to clean and a bush basket of dandelion greens to clean. I guess you know what we like, and it will keep me out of mischief.

BERLIN CHURCH WILL CELEBRATE FOUNDING

In the early 1900s, many young men left the Russian farming communities of Minisk, Wolensky, and Goudensky, and made their way to northern New Hampshire, either working in the woods or in the paper mills that straddled the Androscoggin River. By 1915, there were about 300 Russian immigrants gathered in Berlin, N.H. In March of that year Fr. Arcady Petrovsky and the faithful Russians committed themselves to forming an Orthodox Christian parish, the Church of the Holy Resurrection. In a few months time, at both the unique Russian church that still overlooks the Androscoggin and the present-day church of Holy Resurrection, the church will celebrate its 80th anniversary. The festivities will include a potluck dinner, a musical performance by the church choir, and a service at the church on Petrograd Street at 7 a.m. The head of the church is Fr. Anthony, in America, Metropolitan Theodosios, along with Bishop Benjamin of Canada, will presiding at the service. State and local dignitaries will also be present.

The church will also have a gala dinner at the church on June 3 at 6 p.m. Another musical supper is planned for June 13 at 5:30 p.m. Baked beans, hot dogs and casseroles, salad, and pie for dessert will be the menu. There will be songs by the Pine Tones, also by Rabbette. Another surprise will be the program. The Richard Felt Band will again provide the music for dancing and there will be door prizes.

Poppy chairman, Vera Cross announced that the Poppy Girl this year will be 11-year-old Victoria Walker who is the daughter of one

MOTHER AND SON GRADUATE—Shane Lovejoy and his mother, Tyrene, both graduated from college last week. Shane, a 1993 Telstar graduate, received an associate's degree in graphic arts from Central Maine Technical College on May 12. One week later, Tyrene received her associate's degree as a dietetic technician from Southern Maine Technical College. The West Bethel mother and son both had large cheering sections at their graduation ceremonies -- four generations worth, in fact. Shane's great-grandmother, Fannie Cummings, and grandparents Cleveland and Catherine Lovejoy were among the 14 relatives attending. Shane has already started work at the American Journal Company in Westbrook. Tyrene expects to be employed in Berlin, N.H.

Jackson-Silver Auxiliary

Reports of past activities and planning for new ones took place at the Auxiliary's meeting on May 18.

It was reported that the quilt which was made by Shirley Lowell and raffled netted $236 for the Greenwood Fire Dept. At this time another quilt which Shirley has donated is being raffled, money to go to Oklahoma City disaster victims.

The tickets sold plus donations received at the time of the supper and dance on May 9 raised $650 for the benefit of Noreen Russo. The Unit wishes to thank all those who attended and those who provided door prizes, also the performers and the band for their help.

On May 20 the Unit will cater the luncheon for the meeting of the Oxford Co. Retired Teachers Assoc. They will also prepare and serve the annual Woodstock High School Alumni Banquet on June 3 at 6 p.m.

Another musical supper is planned for June 13 at 5:30 p.m. Baked beans, hot dogs and casseroles, salad, and pie for dessert will be the menu. There will be songs by the Pine Tones, also by Rabbette. Another surprise will be the program. The Richard Felt Band will again provide the music for dancing and there will be door prizes.

Poppy chairman, Vera Cross announced that the Poppy Girl this year will be 11-year-old Victoria Walker who is the daughter of one of the Unit's newer members, Bertha Walker. She will be marching in the parade in Locke Mills on May 29 and in Bryant Pond in the afternoon. Victoria and Vera will be distributing poppies at that time as well as during the time between now and Memorial Day.

Evanna Davis who, with Helen Cummings, has been serving on the Scholarship screening committee with the Post, reported that eight applications had been received. These were carefully evaluated and placed in order from one to eight according to perceived need and the Post will be giving money to each. The Unit voted to add $250 to these. The Post has been raising money for this project by selling tickets for a raffle, the first two prizes being shopping sprees at the Locke Mills Shur-Fine. Third and fourth prizes will be gift certificates. Tickets are on sale at the store, at Dan's Car Wash, from Earl Tyler, at the Legion Hall and from various members, including Unit member, Olive Risko, 665-2909.

Next meeting will be June 1 at 6 p.m., one hour earlier than usual as the Woodstock fifth-graders will be showing slides of their trip to Sturbridge Village. The second June meeting will not be until the fourth Thursday because of the Department Convention from June 15 to 18 in Ellsworth.

OTTEN APPOINTED TO WHITE HOUSE CONFERENCE

Bill Cohen, R-Maine, has appointed Sunday River Ski Resort owner Leslie B. Otten, to the 1995 White House Conference on Travel and Tourism.

"I am proud to name Les to participate in this important event," said Cohen. "He has firsthand experience in efforts to increase tourism, and he will provide a unique perspective on the importance of tourism to Maine and the nation."

The 1995 White House Conference on Travel and Tourism, to be held Oct. 30-31 in Washington, will bring together travel and tourism experts from around the nation to discuss issues and challenges facing the tourism industry. Participants will highlight the economic significance of tourism, which generated $56 billion in local, state and federal tax receipts in 1993. They will also craft a long-term national tourism strategy to enable the U.S. to compete with such tourism leaders as Canada and Australia.

"The tourism industry is important to both Maine and America, and the conference will benefit tremendously from Les' participation," Cohen said. "He is a proven leader in the tourism field."

Concert salutes V-E Day

Gould Academy's annual spring concert will salute World War II with "The Stage Door Canteen" on May 26. Commemorating the 50th anniversary of V-E Day, the Choir, Jazz Band, Guys' and Girls' Groups will present songs, solos, and surprises that helped shape our nation's pride during the war years.

"The Stage Door Canteen" begins at 8 p.m. in Bingham Auditorium and is free and open to the public. Gould Academy extends a special invitation to area veterans and their families.

GREENWOOD HIST. SOC.

President Joan Kimball presided at the regular meeting of the Greenwood Historical Society on May 3, with 17 members and one visitor present.

The business about a flea market and the Town Hall clean-up were again tabled. It was decided at the meeting to find someone to mow the lawn this year, and Blaine Mills volunteered to find someone.

The new book about some of the towns in the Oxford Hills was given to the society by the authors Diane and Jack Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. Mansfield Packard donated a 1932 picture of the mill crew at the former E.L. Tebbets Spool Mill. Donald and Elsie Bennett donated a lamp that was made by the late Owen Davis, and was a wedding gift to them nearly 62 years ago. The Bennetts also donated a potato masher that was used by his grandmother, Mary (Cole) Bennett.

Following the meeting, everyone enjoyed the program by Basil Seguin of Bryant Pond and South Paris on Psychic Phenomena. At the next meeting Marie Bartlett will talk on environmental issues.

Refreshments were served by Jeannette Kimball. Refreshments at the next meeting will be a Tasting Party, each lady member bringing something.

She graduated from Gould Academy in 1939 and from Wheelock College in Boston in 1942.

She married C. Rodney Wentzell at the Bethel Congregational Church on June 20, 1942. As with many other wartime brides, she resided and taught kindergarten classes in the Boston area while her husband served in Europe and North Africa. On his return they made their home mostly in the New York City area.

Mrs. Wentzell received a master's degree in education from Columbia University and for several years taught in The Bronx school system, as well as the Adult Education Program.

Since their retirement, Mr. and Mrs. Wentzell have resided in Mt. Pleasant, S.C., where she was an active member of the St. Andrews Episcopal Church.

She is survived by her husband; a daughter, Melinda Kornblum of California; a son Stephen of Delaware; two granddaughters and a grandson; and one nephew of Colorado. Her brother, Richard Little, passed away two months ago.

Funeral services were held at St. Andrews Church in Mt. Pleasant,

N.Y., on May 15. There will be a Memorial Service held at the Church of the Holy Spirit in Orleans, Mass., their summer residence, at a later date.
